(242) Kottnauer, Cenek - BBC Listeners [B55]

BBC radio, 1960

[Harding in British Chess]

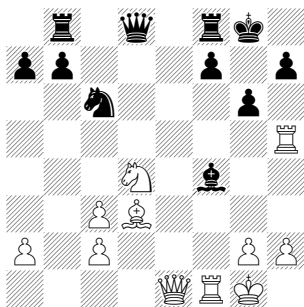

The notes here are adapted from the ones by Tim Harding in the book British Chess (p.136) and later rewritten for The Kibitzer tribute article to Kottnauer..The following game was played against the listeners of the BBC radio chess magazine programme which used to be broadcast on Network 3 on Sunday afternoons each week in the late 1950s and early 1960s. One move was played each week, the public sending in their suggested moves on postcards. The item was presented by Harry Golombek who selected what he thought was the best move among those suggested. I don't know how often he used his discretion to reject the majority move. So Kottnauer was playing correspondence chess against Golombek and all the chess players of Britain - and still he won! 1.e4 c5 2.Nf3 d6 3.d4 cxd4 4.Nxd4 Nf6 5.f3 A good choice for a game like this where it is more appropriate to have "real chess" than discuss a long theoretical variation. Kottnauer played this move, a favourite of Dutch master Lodewijk prins, on several occasions. Note that this game is not in the NIC YB36 survey of the 5 f3 line. It was published in the Penguin book on the BBC chess series and also in the book British Chess. 5...e5 6.Nb3 Played much less frequently than 6 ♗b5+ 6...d5 [6...Be6 7.c4 Nbd7 (7...a5!?
